Invitation to Inaugural Symposium

It is our pleasure to invite you to the inaugural Structural Heart Disease New Zealand Symposium, to be held in Hamilton in April 2016.

The aim of this symposium is to bring together medical and allied health professionals with special interest in structural heart disease from across New Zealand. The meeting will provide both a forum to share experiences and novel techniques that are evolving in this field, and also the framework to debate evidence behind contemporary best clinical practice in a resource-limited public health system.

We look forward to welcoming you to Hamilton!

Warm Regards,

Dr Sanjeevan Pasupati
